2024NHNE

The International Natural Health and Nutrition Expo (NHNE) is a fairly large-scale event for the nutrition and health food industry in Asia. Covering over 40,000 square meters, the expo involves more than 10 professional fields, such as health food, functional food, nutritional supplements and special medical formula food. The expo brings together more than 1,000 world-renowned brands with tens of thousands of kinds of health nutritional products on display.

About 120,000 channel providers and terminal buyers, including agents, distributors, chain drug-stores, online retailers and grocery stores, will visit the expo and negotiate. Over 30 high-quality conferences and forums as well as superb on-site events will be held concurrently.

Where you meet more business opportunities in China

NHNE Conference Programme

NHNE features the most comprehensive conference programme to date. Over 15 industry forums and more than 200 (industry-relevant) themes will be presented over three jam-packed days.

Exhibitors will also have the opportunity to take part in a series of International seminars to both master the latest information on China's market and introduce their innovative products to Chinese customers right on the show floor.

Target Attendee Program

The Reed-exclusive Target Attendee Program has been specially established to gather core expo visitors. It aims to help exhibitors further expand their business, while finding the most suitable partners. More than 300 professionals from the Top 100 retail pharmacies, regional chain pharmacies, agents, and the e-commerce field will be invited to attend this exhibition. It is an efficient, convenient and complimentary service, tailored for exhibitors who are eager to open up channels for business.

Nutrition Top 100 Awards Ceremony

NHNE Nutrition Top 100 Awards Ceremony was held on the night of Sep. 20 during the NHNE at the InterContinental Hotel, National Exhibition and Convention Center (Shanghai). The event was to acknowledge those who have contributed to the development of the health and nutrition industry, and the top brand and buyers in the industry.

A wide variety of international activities

NHNE organises an increasing number and variety of international activities that offer an unrivaled opportunity for overseas exhibitors to promote their brands and products to professional visitors.

NHNE will be carrying out both online and offline campaigns in order to have more professional visitors know your name through the activities.
